A STRIKE AT THE CAPITOL. Laborers Leave Their Work and Make Demands.

W. S. Hutchinson, tilesetter and contractor, who has a contract to do certain work at the House of Representatives, has a strike on his hands. The inborers employed by him who have been working at the Capitol for some time left their work yesterday. The work was continued, however, by members of the Tile-

The laborers demand $1.50 a day. They assert that they went to work under the mpression that they were to receive this impression that they were to receive this samount and, upon finding that their compensation was but $1.25 a day, quit work. A second cause of grievance set forth is that the work is excessively hard. They complain that they are compelled to carry up the Capitol steps barrels containing tiles which weigh between 500 and 500 capands.
